DANIEL WRIGHT (1778-1873)

COUNTY'S FIRST SETTLER

Daniel Wright is considered Lake County's first settler and first permanent non-native settler. Wright was born in Rutland, Vermont in 1778, he was a farmer and served in the War of 1812.

Although he was known as "Captain" he served in the war as a Lieutenant with the 1st Rifle Company, 3rd Regiment of the Vermont Militia.

In 1814, he moved his family to Ohio and in 1832 began to explore land in Illinois. Rumors of good, cheap, farmland led Wright to Fort Dearborn (later known as Chicago) where trappers told him of good hunting along the Des Plaines River near what would become Half Day (later Lincolnshire).

Wright was the first of the American newcomers to stay year-round in what would become Lake County, Illinois. Capt. Wright was active as a farmer and a cooper. Traditionally, a cooper is someone who makes casks, barrels, butter churns and tubs bound together with hoops and possessing flat ends or heads.

He built his cabin when he was in his mid-fifties and in spite of the hardships associated with pioneer life, he lived to be ninety-five years old and is buried in the Vernon Cemetery in Half Day. A stone memorial was erected in his memory on his old farm on the east side of Milwaukee Avenue.
